1. Start early.

Getting an early start is always important for GRE prep since it allows you to work full-time, getting an early start at following tips, step back and look at your schedule. How long it takes to be honest about how much time you'll actually devote to study is important—where are you now, and how far do you have to go?

2. Register early too.

Whether GRE test dates can be like gold dust if you don't hop enough, if you can avoid taking a day off work to take the test, likely to show off your full potential.

5. CARVE OUT TIME FOR PRACTICE TESTS.
